

School Closure Discharge Reporting

In June 2011, 15 New York City public schools closed for poor performance. This report provides data regarding students enrolled in these schools during the 2010-2011 school year, according to the guidelines set by Local Law 2011/043.¹

High Schools

Four New York City public high schools stopped serving students in July 2011: Bronx Coalition Community School, Canarsie High School, EBC/ENY HS for Public Safety & Law, and Far Rockaway High School.

These schools struggled to meet basic requirements for student success. In 2007, just 35.2% of students that entered these schools four years earlier graduated on time.² During the phase out process, the Department of Education provided supports to students and staff. The schools' combined graduation rate increased to 37.0% in 2008, 39.7% in 2009, and 44.5% in 2010.

569 students were enrolled in these high schools during the 2010-11 school year. Of these:

- 265 students (46.6%) graduated with a Local Diploma or higher.³ Of these:
 - 127 students (22.3%) received a High School Regents Endorsed Diploma (Code 27)
 - 131 students (23.0%) received a Local Diploma (Code 26)
 - 0 to 9 students received a High School Regents Endorsed Diploma with Honors (Code 28)

 - Discharged to a NYC Private School (Code 8)
 - Discharged to a NYC Parochial School (Code 6)
 - Transferred to a Full-Time DOE GED Program (D79 Only) (Code 43)

¹ Includes any student enrolled as of October 31, 2010 and after.

² Excluding Bronx Coalition High School which did not have a graduating class until 2008.

³ Graduation outcomes only include students who were enrolled in a high school for the 2010-11 school year. This percentage is a percentage of students enrolled in the 2010-11 school year who graduated by the end of the school year with a Local or higher diploma. This is not the school's official four year graduation rate. Schools' official four year graduation rates are published each year by the New York State Education Department and are defined as the percentage of students in the school's entering cohort who graduate with a Local or higher diploma four years later.

⁴ No students were discharged under the following codes: Obtained Full-Time Employment Certificate (Code 2), Under Six Years Old (Code 4), Satisfactory Completion of Home Schooling (Code 18), Discharged to a College Early Admission Program Prior to Graduation from High School (Code 20), Entered Military Service (Code 35), Expulsion (Code 79), Proof of Receipt of High School Diploma (Code 25), and Received High School Equivalency Diploma (GED) (Code 30).

- Transferred to a Part-Time DOE GED Program (D79 Only) (Code 38)
 - Previously Discharged from DOE School with an IEP Diploma, GED, or Dropout Code (Code 29)
 - Discharged to an Institution (Non-DOE) (Code 10)
 - Transferred to a school or program for a limited time period (Code 51)
 - Over 21 Years of Age (Code 21)
 - Deceased Student (Code 15)
 - Address Unknown (Authorized by an Attendance Teacher) (Code 12)
- 98 (17.2%) earned at least one credit through credit recovery during the 2010-11 school year.⁵
 - Cumulative grade average of high school students:⁶
 - 23 students (4.0%) had a cumulative average between 85-100,
 - 90 (15.8%) had a cumulative average between 75-84,
 - 193 (33.9%) had a cumulative average between 65-74,
 - 178 (31.3%) had a cumulative average between 55-64, and
 - 85 (14.9%) had a cumulative average below 55.

Elementary & Middle Schools

11 New York City public elementary and middle schools stopped serving students in July 2011: PS 090 George Meany, PS 79 Creston, P.S. 072 Annette P. Goldman, JHS 044 William J O'Shea, KAPPA II, Academy of Collaborative Education, MS 321 Minerva, JHS 166 Roberto Clemente, MS 399, Agnes Y. Humphrey School for Leadership 27, and PS 225 Seaside.

These schools struggled to meet basic requirements for student success. In 2007, student proficiency was far below the city average, with an average scale score of 636 in ELA and 642 in math. During the phase out process, the Department of Education provided supports to students and staff. At these schools, the average ELA score increased to 637 in 2008, 647 in 2009, and 645 in 2010. In math, the average score increased to 647 in 2008, 658 in 2009, and 656 in 2010.

1425 students were enrolled in these elementary and middle schools during the 2010-11 school year. Of these students:

- 1208 students (84.8%) were promoted to the next grade at another DOE school
- 162 students (11.4%) transferred to another DOE school. Of these:
 - 12 students (0.8%) transferred to I.S.286 Renaissance Military Leadership Academy.
 - 0 to 9 students each transferred to 71 other schools.
- 40 students (2.8%) were discharged to a school outside of New York City (Code 11)
- 16 students total were discharged under one of the following codes.⁷ 0 to 9 students were discharged according to each of these codes:
 - Discharged to a NYC Private School (Code 8)

⁵ Note - Per NY State Commissioner's Regulations, students who fail a course of study have the opportunity to make up credit by repeating the course or through credit recovery. When NYSED released its credit recovery policy in 2010, the NYCDOE began tracking its use by creating an indicator in its Student Transcript And Reporting System (STARS), where schools enter course information. Schools began using this indicator in Fall 2010. Because this code did not exist in prior years, it is not possible to report credit recovery credits earned prior to 2010-11.

⁷ No students were discharged under the following codes: Obtained Full-Time Employment Certificate (Code 2), Under Six Years Old (Code 4), Satisfactory Completion of Home Schooling (Code 18), Discharged to a College Early Admission Program Prior to Graduation from High School (Code 20), Entered Military Service (Code 35), Expulsion (Code 79), Proof of Receipt of High School Diploma (Code 25), and Received High School Equivalency Diploma (GED) (Code 30).

- Obtained Full-Time Employment Certificate (age 16-17) (Code 2)
- Discharged to an Institution (Non-DOE) (Code 10)
- Transferred to a school or program for a limited time period (Code 51)

 - 33 (50.0%) had a cumulative average between 55-64, and
 - 10 (15.2%) had a cumulative average below 55.

²³ Note - Per NY State Commissioner's Regulations, students who fail a course of study have the opportunity to make up credit by repeating the course or through credit recovery. When NYSED released its credit recovery policy in 2010, the NYCDOE began tracking its use by creating an indicator in its Student Transcript And Reporting System (STARS), where schools enter course information. Schools began using this indicator in Fall 2010. Because this code did not exist in prior years, it is not possible to report credit recovery credits earned prior to 2010-11.

²⁴ Schools determine their grading policies in accordance with relevant NY State and City policies, including determining which courses to include in the calculation of GPA. Schools may weight certain courses (e.g. Honors, Advanced Placement) more heavily in the GPA calculation. Because this calculation is not calculated consistently across New York City schools, the data reported here is a cumulative grade average that calculates the average grade across all of a student's courses.
